FOE OF REDS
IN BULGARIAN
PLOT HANGEDPROTESTS OF U. S. A.
AND BRITAIN FAIL TO SAVE PETKOV

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 23 (AP)—Nikola Petkov, the peasant leader who accused the Communists of killing and beating their political foes in their march to power in Bulgaria, died today on the gallows in Sofia's central prison, an official announcement said.

The announcement said he died 15 minutes after midnight.

The United States had appealed in vain for a delay in the execution of the 54-year-old leader of the now dissolved opposition Agrarian Party, who was sentenced to death on Aug. 16 after his conviction on charges of plotting to overthrow the Communist-controlled government.

An American note had declared that execution of Petkov, chief voice of anti-Communist opposition in post-war Bulgaria, would "jeopardize the establishment of democratic government" in the country. The United States had denounced the conviction as a "gross miscarriage of justice" and both the United States and Britain had asked the Soviet Union to join in a big power review of his case.

The Russians rejected the appeal, saying they had confidence in the Bulgarian courts. A series of British and American protests declaring the conviction violated pledges guaranteeing fundamental rights to all citizens was rejected by the government headed by Communist Premier Georgi Dimitroff.

In London government informants said Britain, which made 11 unsuccessful attempts to save Petkov's life, would lodge a sharp protest with the Bulgarian government against the execution.

In Washington the state department issued a formal statement denouncing the execution.

Russia refused to join in British-American efforts on Petkov's behalf on the grounds it would constitute "interference" in Bulgaria's internal affairs.

Petkov, who steadfastly denied the charges that he plotted to overthrow the government by a coup d'etat involving armed force, had been arrested last June 6. His trial began on Aug. 5.

He had held little hope that he would escape the death penalty. In his prison cell he described his case as a prolongation of "what has already happened in Hungary," where the Communists squelched opposition after alleging existence of a plot to overthrow the government.

Long Skirts Rush
Sidewalk Repairs
For City Council

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23 (AP)—City Councilman E. J. Leonard has long urged that something be done about defective sidewalks but nothing happened until he brought up the matter of the new long skirts for women.

The long skirts, coupled with the usual high heels, are going to increase the probability of turned ankles and falls because of broken or crumbling paving, Leonard explained.

The council immediately passed a motion that all property owners be ordered to repair their walks.

New Storm Crosses
Florida's Coastline
With 60-Mile Gale

Miami, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP)—The second tropical disturbance to cut across the Florida peninsula in less than a week was 30 miles west of Jacksonville at 10:15 p.m. (CDT) tonight after hitting the mainland with 60 mile an hour winds in the Tampa area on the west coast.

The storm, which had wallowed about in the Gulf of Mexico off Tampa most of the day, suddenly entered the mainland tonight and was sweeping across the state—through the wealthy citrus belt—at a forward speed of 20 miles an hour.

FRANK NOT APPRECIATED

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP)—Willie Gilmore, 57-year-old Negro, was jailed "for safekeeping" early today after reportedly racing through the streets yelling: "Big storm coming . . . 175-mile-an-hour winds."

Negroes poured into the streets in all types of sleeping attire from a half-dozen blocks before police caught up with prankster Gilmore. His victims went back to bed mumbling threats of vengeance, and police took Gilmore to a safe cell for a while.

It was moving on a north northeast course and slowly curving to the northeast. Its present path and forward speed would bring it out into the Atlantic in the Savannah-Charleston area early Wednesday morning.

For the first time since Monday, storm warnings were ordered down in the south Florida area—still groggery from the mighty hurricane which struck six days ago—and small craft warnings replaced the ominous red and black storm flags from Tampa to Vera Beach south to the Florida Keys.

In a 10:15 p.m. advisory the weather bureau predicted that winds would gradually increase over southern Georgia and the Carolinas and slowly decrease over south and central Florida.

The erratic tropical disturbance, irritating to storm weary Floridians, but far from dangerous, left little damage in its wake as it swirled across the state.

Its highest winds still around 60 miles an hour with 70 miles an hour in squalls, had done very little damage. At St. Petersburg Beach, which apparently received the brunt of the storm, awnings were shredded, some foliage was down and palm fronds from the tall stately palms, but little more.

Rain in torrents seemed to be the principal headache accompanying this storm. Seed beds in the Bradenton area, one of the state's richest truck farming sections, were reported either destroyed or heavily damaged by the torrents.

On Lido Beach, playground for the city of Sarasota, several Cabanas were damaged by the winds, and high waves and high tides caused the sand-bagging of some beach sections. Two roads leading across to the causeway into the city were reported inundated but the water was expected to recede by morning.

Several streets in Bradenton and Sarasota were reported to be covered with rain water and several bus schedules of the Glades Motor Lines out of Fort Myers were cancelled earlier today when flooded roads leading out of the city temporarily halted traffic.

At Clearwater, residents still cleaning up after the storm of last Wednesday, reported that the principal damage caused by today's blow lay in the fact that they were unable to continue cleanup operations.

From all indications the storm was more of an inconvenience than a danger.

WORLD BANK WANTS
ALL MONEY FROM
U. S. INVESTORS

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The financial task confronting the United States under the 16-nation proposal for putting western Europe on its feet loomed even greater today, for the World Bank made plain that any money it puts into the plan must come from American investors.

This means that virtually all the funds requested by Europe—a total of $22,440,000,000 in a four-year period—must come from the United States if they are provided.

The 16 nations, declaring their needs for economic recovery under the Marshall plan, looked to the American continent for $19,330,000,000 and to the World Bank for $3,110,000,000 in loans.

Canada and Latin American nations are not expected to provide much of the $19,330,000,000 because they are already dipping into their gold reserves and dollar holdings to help pay for what they buy from the United States.

And Robert L. Garner, vice president of the World Bank, told a news conference today that at present the bank has only about $500,000,000 for lending. The only way it can get more money in the foreseeable future, he said, is to sell bonds to American investors.

Meanwhile, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) told a news conference that any economic aid the United States extends to western Europe should be in the form of "genuine loans" to private enterprise there, rather than "gifts" to governments "trying to stay in power" with the help of American dollars, as he described it.

Ferguson said the Export-Import Bank and the Reconstruction Finance Corp. could be utilized in a loan program and thus "we could have supervision" of funds made available.

State Has Surplus
Of $18,105,880, But Won't Be For Long

Lansing, Sept. 23 (AP)—The state treasury had a cash surplus of $18,105,880 at the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, Auditor General Muri K. Aten reported today.

The surplus already has been spent by the legislature, Aten added, and the auditor general, and Budget Director John A. Perkins indicated this surplus may be the last the state will enjoy. The state fiscal officers said with the sales tax diversion amendment in effect they were not sure the state could collect enough revenue to offset rising costs and a probable raise for state employees.

The 1947 legislature appropriated the entire anticipated surplus and left a general fund deficit of approximately $10,000,000 for next year. Sales tax collections are expected to wipe out that deficit but are not expected to be enough to pile up another surplus.

The state added $1,573,524 to the surplus in the last fiscal year, and the remainder was a carry-over from the previous year. The surplus would have been $5,000,000 higher, Aten said, if that amount had not been loaned to the highway department to be repaid in 1949.

The Benton Harbor fruit orchards, harassed by $500,000 damage in the weekend wind and rain storm, escaped further serious damage when the season's first frost proved light.

The weather bureau had expressed fear of a heavy frost which it said might seriously damage inland orchards in Lower Michigan.

Tuesday's low temperature was 28 degrees at Cadillac. Other lows included 20 at Sault Ste. Marie, 32 at Jackson and 33 at Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Saginaw.

Boy Charged With Murder In Ambush
Killing At Lansing

Lansing, Sept. 23 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy accused as the "trigger man" in an ambush slaying and the victim's wife will face examination on a first degree murder charge in Ingham county circuit court here Friday.

Richard Gorman, a ward of the St. Vincent de Paul society of Detroit, and Mrs. Josephine Upton, 29, are accused of plotting the murder of the husband. State police claim Gorman fired a shotgun blast from ambush to kill the woman's husband, Frank G. Upton, 30, last August 21 at their farm home near Williamston.

State police claim the pair conspired in the murder plot because the husband "was mean to his wife and the children."

The state supreme court, by a unanimous decision, today denied Gorman a writ of habeas corpus in the case.

They said Herold and his relatives were out on a sight-seeing trip today when their auto collided with the side of the freight locomotive near the Snyder station crossing about eight miles south of here. The engine was disabled by the impact.

Funds To Enforce
Callahan Act Put Up To Legislature

Lansing, Sept. 23 (AP)—The special legislative session, to meet in January, will be asked for money to enforce the Callahan Act requiring registration of "foreign agents" Governor Sigler said today.

The governor also said he would ask the legislature to plug constitutional loopholes in the act so it could stand up under possible court attacks. Organized labor groups and others have termed the act "unconstitutional."

Sigler conferred with Attorney General Eugene F. Black and asked the attorney general for a report on methods of strengthening the Callahan Act to be included in his message to the special session.

Black reported to Sigler the act might infringe on constitutional guarantees of free speech and assembly, might infringe upon federal control of foreign relations and might illegally confer judicial power upon the attorney general.

Reunion Is Tragedy
As Relatives Crash
Into Freight Train

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 23 (AP)—A family reunion ended tragically today when an auto driven by George W. Herold, 23, of Horton, Mich., collided with a freight train engine killing Herold and his mother, Mrs. Pernie Herold, 47, of Paducah, Ky.

Critically injured were Herold's wife, Ruth, 23, and his brother, Joseph, 13, of Paducah.

State police said the Kentucky members of the family arrived here this week for a vacation.

They said Herold and his relatives were out on a sight-seeing trip today when their auto collided with the side of the freight locomotive near the Snyder station crossing about eight miles south of here. The engine was disabled by the impact.

ALL AMERICAN
CRISIS PLANS ARE APPROVEDPLEA FOR HARMONY
IGNORED IN FRESH
SOVIET BLASTS

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Heavy United Nations majorities steam-rollered Russian opposition today and approved American proposals to deal with the Greek and Korean crises and consider creation of a new veto-free security agency.

Over the persistent objection of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, the 55-nation assembly also approved an American-supported Argentine proposal that it debate and suggest revision of the new Italian peace treaty. This issue brought a split among the western powers as well as between them and Russia.

The six votes of the Slav bloc held solid in the minority throughout on all east-west issues.

United On One Issue
Russia and the United States showed upon the same side of the voting on only one issue—creation of a special 55-nation committee on Palestine—and on this the Arab bloc was an adamant minority in opposition.

The air of contest and bitter controversy which marked the assembly's week-long general debate prevailed throughout the voting on 61-item agenda. Finally this was adopted without change from the form in which it had been submitted to the assembly by the 14-nation steering committee.

As the debate closed and discussion of the agenda opened, Secretary General Trygve Lie made an impassioned plea for harmony and compromise among the battling great powers. He was applauded unanimously but otherwise got no immediate observable result.

Vishinsky ignored the appeal. Immediately afterward he began a point-by-point attack on American policies. This campaign is expected to continue through the rest of the session as specific issues come up first in committee and then again in the assembly itself. Committee work begins tomorrow at Lake Success.

Decisions By Majority
Here is the way the voting went today:

On the American proposal that the general assembly try to restore Korean independence in view of the deadlock between the United States and Russia—for 41, against 6, not voting 7. The six against were the Slav bloc countries—Russia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Soviet White Russia, Soviet Ukraine and Czechoslovakia.

On the Argentine proposal for revision of the Italian peace treaty—for 22, against 8, not voting 19. In this case both Britain and France had announced they would abstain and had questioned whether it was wise to seek revision of a treaty so quickly.

On the Greek Balkan row—for 38, against 6, not voting 9.

On the Yugoslav proposal to switch from the legal committee to the political committee a proposed resolution on returning war criminals to their homelands—for 8, against 33, not voting 4.

On a proposal made by Lie to set up a special committee to seek a solution of the Palestine problem—for 29, against 11, not voting 6. In this case the big five nations—America, Britain, France, Russia and China—all voted for the committee.

The assembly reached its decisions by a majority of the members present and voting.

The American proposal that the assembly consider setting up a 55-nation special security agency was

Proposed Milk Measure To Require Inspection Of 'Outside' Sources

The consensus of thought expressed at an informal gathering of the city council at the city hall last night, held to discuss the request of the Delta Provision company to sell milk in Escanaba obtained from the Luick Dairy company of Milwaukee, was that if a new city milk ordinance is adopted, it should contain a clause requiring that the source of outside milk be subject to the same inspection as that given to milk furnished by local dealers.

Although no official action was taken during the three-and-one-half hour session, during which practically every possible angle of the milk question was discussed at length, City Attorney Dennis McGinn was instructed to draw up a proposed milk ordinance containing such a clause to be considered at the next official meeting of the council Thursday, Oct. 2.

It was the consensus that such an ordinance should require that milk-producing farms beyond the confines of the Menominee-Delta county health authorities be inspected by the local enforcing officer at a reasonable cost to firms desiring to sell "outside" milk in Escanaba.

Study Other Ordinances

Mayor Marvin L. Coon explained after the informal gathering that the council had agreed that "state and county health units should not bear the cost of inspecting milk from sources outside the jurisdiction of the Menominee-Delta county health board."

It was generally agreed that limitations regarding pasteurizing of milk such as exist in Milwaukee, Beloit, Iron Mountain and Marquette—four examples of milk ordinances cited—should not be imposed in the proposed new ordinance.

In Milwaukee, for instance it is required that milk sold in Milwaukee be pasteurized in Milwaukee. In Beloit, milk must be pasteurized within six miles of the city. In Iron Mountain, the distance limitation is 40 miles, it was pointed out, and in Marquette, it is required that milk sold there be pasteurized within 10 miles of the city.

No 'Restraint Of Trade'

In effect, sentiment expressed at the session favored protection of local milk dealers and county dairy herds to some extent, and it was pointed out that a clause requiring inspection of outside sources of milk would not be in "restraint of trade."

If an ordinance containing such a clause is adopted by the council, an outside firm such as Luick Dairy company of Milwaukee would be permitted to sell milk in Escanaba if it were willing to pay the cost of inspections by local health authorities.

The ordinance to be drawn by City Attorney McGinn will be patterned after the Michigan Milk ordinance, drafted and approved by representatives of the Michigan department of health, Michigan department of agriculture, Michigan State college, Michigan Milk Producers association, Michigan Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors and Michigan Milk Dealers association.

State Ordinance Studied

The state milk ordinance was studied in considerable detail last night in consultation with Joseph L. Griffith, sanitary engineer for the Delta-Menominee county health board, and J. L. Heimer, Delta county agricultural agent.

The discussion last night arose from the request of the Delta Provision company to sell milk here obtained from Luick, which, if granted, would require revision of the existing city milk ordinance or adoption of a new one.

Under provisions of the existing ordinance, the Delta Provision company cannot be granted permission to sell milk here obtained from outside sources.

Lack Of Funds Hinders Fight To Protect U. P. White Pine From 'Rust'

Although funds for fighting blister rust, which is menacing the Upper Peninsula's stand of beautiful white pine, have been made practically non-existent by Congress, agents of the U. S. Agriculture Departmental bureau of entomology and plant quarantine in Escanaba are remapping and resurveying the U. P.'s hardest-hit areas in preparation for the time when the fight can be continued.

Through the use of aerial photographs and stereo studies, contour-lined maps of the affected areas are being made by the agents to facilitate the work of eradicating the tree disease when funds again become available.

Evaluation of the five-needle white pine, the only type of white pine in the Upper Peninsula, is being completed, and areas where blister rust exists are being studied thoroughly for future action.

Blister Rust
"It is all we can do at present and we are doing everything possible to expedite blister rust control when funds become available to us again for large scale work," S. M. Sager, one of the local agents, said here yesterday.

The blister rust fight is regarded as an important phase of the nation's reforestation program, which was stressed to a great extent under the administration of the late President Roosevelt.

W. D. Miller, in charge of the Escanaba office; A. S. Franklin, state agent working with the Federal experts, and Sager are directing their attention now to remapping and resurveying Keweenaw and Houghton counties in the Copper Country, which has been particularly hard hit.

Much of the rust in the Copper Country and elsewhere in the U. P. has come from the fungus on European black currant, which was a favorite jelly-making substance used by early residents of the U. P.

Infest a Mile Away
The blister rust fungus created on a black currant leaf is strong and able to infest white pine at a great distance, it was explained. Nine hundred feet is considered a safe distance for other currant bushes, but the European black currant has been known to infest white pine up to a mile away.

As a result of this discovery, a state law was passed about 15 years ago making it illegal to grow black currants in white pine areas throughout Michigan. This includes all of the Upper Peninsula and all of Lower Michigan except a few southern peninsula counties.

"Our present survey will provide an estimate of the amount of labor required to eradicate rust," Sager said. "Areas will be classified on a priority basis, depending on how much they are infested by the disease, and when funds become available, the fight will be continued on the basis of those priorities."

Veteran Of Lakes, Hans A. Simensen, Dies At Stonington

CAPT. SIMENSEN

Hans Anton Simensen, 79, who sailed the Great Lakes in the days of sailing schooners, died at 3:15 p. m. Tuesday at his home in Stonington after a short illness.

Capt. Simensen was born May 11, 1868, at Torsberg, Norway, at the entrance to the Oslo fjord. When he was only 14 years old he went to sea, sailing to England, France, Russia, and other foreign lands. His last trip out of Norway was on a boat bound for Brazil, from whence he came to New York City in 1886. Soon afterward he drifted to Milwaukee and resumed his chosen occupation of Great Lakes schooners, coming to Stonington to live 34 years ago. He sailed the schooner Kewaunee for Skaug Brothers of Stonington and later took over the Lucia A. Simpson, last commercial sailing vessel in Great Lakes waters.

Winters in New Zealand are so mild that livestock can remain outside.

Dr. DeKleine Fired

THE removal of Dr. William DeKleine as state health commissioner by Governor Sigler was not unexpected. In fact, Dr. DeKleine's ouster was all but sealed when the state association of health officers filed objections with the governor and requested the commissioner's removal from office.

The success of a state health commissioner is dependent in no small degree to the extent of cooperation he is able to secure from county and city health officers and, of course, from private practitioners in the state. When Dr. DeKleine lost the confidence of those groups, his usefulness as state health commissioner was drastically reduced. Gov. Sigler had no choice except to remove Dr. DeKleine and to replace him with a new commissioner who has the support of the professional men with whom the health commissioner must work in closest cooperation.

Aside from any other considerations that may have influenced the state association of health officers in their opposition to Dr. DeKleine, drastic reductions in federal aid received through the state health department undoubtedly was a major factor.

In the Delta-Menominee health district, for instance, the federal aid has been reduced by the state from $15,118 to $6,656, even though the federal appropriation to the state has been increased. Dr. DeKleine saw fit to use a substantially greater share of federal funds for operation of the state office at the expense of local units, where the public health program is closest to the people.

As a result of this predicament, the Delta-Menominee health district faces a deficit of $8,300 which is just about the same amount as the loss in federal funds. Whether Dr. DeKleine's removal and the appointment of Dr. J. K. Atland as his successor will have any immediate effect determined at Grand Rapids Thursday next upon this situation will probably be when the entire financial picture will be studied.

A Shuddering Thought

THE United Nations was conceived as a world organization in which individual nations acting in concert would discuss their problems and work out international agreements by the process of conciliation, negotiation and compromise. Presumably the delegates of the various nations would be prompted in their attitudes by the recognition of the brutality of war and by world-wide abhorrence of war as a means of settling international difficulties.

Instead of genuine determination to find the road to world peace within the structure of the UN, delegates at the assembly are shouting words of war and pointing the finger of scorn at each other. The rift is growing ever wider—Russia and her satellites on one hand, the United States, Britain, Western Europe and other democratic nations on the other.

In the atmosphere that currently prevails in the international assembly meeting in New York, hope for establishment of a bridge that will unite all the masses of people of the world in a common effort for world peace and international understanding is rapidly dissolving.

The next few weeks are the most fateful in the brief life of the United Nations Organization. It is becoming more and more evident that the UN as now constituted can become successful in fulfilling the purposes of its charter only if Soviet Russia reverses her attitude and decides to assist rather than hinder the world organization to solve world problems. It means that Russia must cease in its program of expansion, withdraw its iron curtain and dedicate its great resources to the cause of world peace.

Unfortunately, there is small hope that this reversal of Soviet attitude will materialize. In the end, it may mean the withdrawal of Russia and her satellites from the world organization, the end of hopes for international atomic control and the forming of sides in a titanic struggle of conflicting ideologies.

The entire world shudders at the thought.

World Series, 1947

NEXT week the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the annual World Series, the baseball classic that decides the world's championship and officially winds up the baseball season.

The Dodgers clinched the National league title Monday night when the St. Louis Cardinals dropped a night game to the Chicago Cubs. The Yanks had copped the American league pennant a full week earlier.

For at least four days and perhaps as many as seven, sports-loving Americans will turn their attention away from the United Nations, high prices, world food shortages and all the other complex and perplexing world problems and concentrate on that great American institution, the World Series.

Only a comparative handful, 70,000 or less, of America's millions of baseball fans will be privileged to see the games each day but the rest of us will be listening with equal ardor to the radio descriptions and television versions and devouring the millions of words written about this great classic in our newspapers.

It's a great institution, American baseball. It gives us a semblance of balance in a troubled world, refreshes us for the more troublesome problems of complex living.

Back Where They Started

WITH the deportation of 4400 refugees to Germany, the tragedy of Europe's Jews has now come the full circle. Among those 4400 there must be some who find themselves physically back where they started. As for the others, they might well feel that the hope which sustained them through the war has evaporated, leaving them no better off than before.

Much as one may sympathize with the British in their present troubles, it is difficult to find any extenuating circumstances in their latest action. Not that all the blame lies with Britain. There have been several contributors to the present sorry state of affairs.

The Jews themselves have not acted faultlessly. To the ardent Zionists it seems to be Palestine or nothing. They consider the Holy Land their ancient homeland, it is true, and they have earlier British promises to indicate that the present mandatory power once agreed with them. But it can be seen how their idealism, coupled with terrorism, might in time become scarcely distinguishable from stubbornness and revolt.

At one time there was hope that the United Nations might step in quickly and solve the problem. But it is nearly four months now since the UN Special Committee on Palestine was formed. Eventually this group will report, and perhaps its findings can be the basis for a satisfactory settlement.

It is to be feared that most of the individual members of the UN would not welcome these thwarted refugees either, even if they consented to go elsewhere than Palestine. Certainly our own Congress, which has not seen fit to authorize a special admittance of any displaced persons, could hardly be counted on to make an exception of this Jewish emergency.

After all these exceptions and excuses, however, it is still hard to understand why Prime Minister Attlee insisted that the refugees had to be sent to Germany. It is understandable why they were not taken to England. The increasing austerity of British life might make the addition of even a few thousand more a noticeable burden. But Germany isn't exactly a garden spot, either.

These unhappy Jews are being sent back into the midst of a people who hated and reviled and tortured and slaughtered them and their brothers. They are going to a country where nazism and anti-Semitism still live, and their coming will not shorten the life of either one.

Somewhere in the still vast British Empire there must be a place where the British are boss and could have taken these Jews without the local government's permission. There must be a place where the residents would be more friendly than the residents of Germany would be, and where there is food enough for all.

Since the British government was moving the Jewish refugees forcibly and against their will, it seems almost incredible that Mr. Attlee and his associates could find no better place to dump them than Germany.

Americans are folks who elect people to pass down the laws so they can pass them up.

Always kicking about something or other is just kicking yourself about.

Trying to cure a grievance with careful nursing is a nice waste of time.

The word Indonesia has caused much speculation among my readers since the word first hit the headlines several weeks ago. "Indonesia is not on my map; what does the word mean? What kind of people are the Indonesians?" These are typical of the many questions that come in every mail.

To begin with, "Indonesia" is a term which rather loosely designates the group of islands usually known as the East Indian archipelago. Of late, however, the term has been restricted to the islands of Dutch East Indies which compose the so-called Indonesian Republic—Sumatra, Java, Madura, etc.

The Indonesian people probably sprang from a mixture of Polynesian and Mongoloid immigrants, together with Duaks, Battaks, Lampongs, and other Malayan groups.

The real purpose of this article is to discuss the origin of the term Indonesia, and to give its literal meaning; and in so doing we shall learn about some other equally interesting names which should be in our vocabularies.

Indonesia is formed from Indo-, "Indian" (East Indian), plus -nesia, "island region," from the Greek nesos, "island"; hence, "region of East Indian islands."

The term Polynesia is from the Greek polys, "many," plus -nesia, "region of many islands."

Micronesia designates the almost countless islands of the Pacific east of the Philippines, such as the Marianas, Caroline, Marshall and other groups, some of the bitterest fighting in our war with Athens, Greece—Anyone here even a brief time can learn how absurd are the Russian charges that the United States is seeking to dominate Greece. No invader in all the centuries of turbulent Greek history ever came with less of the idea of domination.

One handicap may be that we are too reluctant to take the leadership in straightening out the Greek tangle. Greek politicians expected something like that to happen. They were prepared to relax and enjoy it.

Now they are puzzled and perhaps even irritated because of the American reluctance to use a strong hand. They complain that Aid Director Dwight Griswold does not tell them what they should do.

The only thing resembling intervention thus far is the insistence of the Americans on broadening the base of the Greek government. That was wholly in the interest of democracy and representation of the mass of the people. Even that was done tentatively and after long hesitation.

It is almost enough to refute the Russian charge before the U. N. to say that the Communist party operates openly here in Athens. A Communist paper is published daily, and daily is full of denunciations of Griswold and the American Aid Mission. Griswold has been urged to curtail this freedom and perhaps suppress the extreme leftwing papers, but he has steadfastly refused to do so.

—OPEN WITH WAR—

In the country outside Athens the situation is different. There known Communist sympathizers are likely to be arrested by government police or attacked by armed bands of the right. This is a phase of the bitter feud that in the north takes the form of open civil war.

The violence and lawlessness of the extreme right existed long before the U. S. Mission arrived. One objective of the mission is to get the situation under control, but that is extremely difficult when law and order are largely non-existent in most of the country.

But the important fact is that peace and the restoration of democracy are the main objectives of American intervention. This fact is evident to anyone who looks objectively at our undertaking in Greece to date. It makes laughable the charges of American imperialism and the rest of the Jargon spouted by Andrei Vishinsky before the United Nations assembly.

We may bungle the job here. If we fail, the reason will be precisely because we have not intervened with sufficient force and determination. Our own resolution in foreign policy is in itself a refutation of the Russian charges.

Anyone less like a dictator and imperialist than Griswold would be hard to find. Communist propagandists indulge in silly fabrications when they try to make him out a Gauleiter. His attitude is typically American in that he would like to do a practical job and then get out and leave the country to decide its own fate in a democratic way.

—A STORY TO TELL—

One tragic mistake here was to cut down the U. S. Information Service just at the moment that the American Mission began to operate. Because of the short-sightedness of congress, the information service in Greece has been reduced to almost nothing. While the mission is trying to take over the function in part, this is a serious lack at a time when it is needed.

The United States has a story to tell that is not propaganda. It is the story of the success of a system which spreads real benefits very widely and yet has kept free choice for the individual. The facts speak far louder than the noisy Jargon of world Communism. Our reluctance to tell the world of our intentions, and how we are going about carrying them out, is a grave handicap. It leaves a vacuum that the Russians are only too eager to try to fill.

The Greeks themselves are deeply democratic. The Metaxas dictatorship in the late thirties sought to impose the paraphernalia of Fascism. But it was never more than skin deep. The resourceful Greek found subtle ways of burling songs, salutes an odious mumbo-jumbo of the dictator.

The Germans, with all their boasted efficiency, would do very little about subjugating the Greek people. Revolt, both concealed and open, constantly grew during the years of occupation. Finally the Germans gave up even trying to keep controls in the countryside.

Even if we had such aims, it would be stupid folly to impose any arbitrary system on Greece. An important segment of Greek Communists are Greeks first and Stalinist Communists only second or third. These are facts that cannot be obscured no matter how loud the propaganda that emanates from Moscow.

Japan . . . Micronesia is formed from micro-, "very small," plus -nesia; hence, "region of very small islands."

Melanesia designates the Pacific islands of New Caledonia, New Hebrides, Solomon, Admiralty, Bismark, Fiji, etc. Melanesia is from the Greek melasnos, "black," plus -nesia; hence, "region of black (peopled) islands."

Now the people of these regions are known as Indonesians, Polynesians, Micronesians, and Melanesians. However, they are loosely regarded as one racial group which is called Amphinesian, from the Greek amphi-, "both kinds," plus -nesia, "of island region"; hence, "people of the various (Pacific) island regions."

Erstwhile Bodyguards

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THE AHM-LINE—From Holmen, Wis., Mrs. Louis E. Hansen writes to the retail committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce: "Gentlemen—I read in the Milwaukee Sentinel about your one-woman parade. I'd like to congratulate that woman for standing up for the women in general. Why should the American woman look like a freak because some foreigner says so? We have enough sensible American designers in Dunathan. America who should design what the American woman wants to wear. I vigorously protest wearing these outlandish new fashions."

It is not our purpose to discourage Mrs. Hansen in her protest against "outlandish" fashions for women's clothing, but we feel constrained to point out that they are designed by Americans. This is one thing for which Paris is not responsible. The French fashion designers have been so busy trying to find enough material for a suit of underwear that they have nothing left over for a longer hemline on dresses.

NEW PILL BOX—The lunch counter juke box has a rival in the vitamin vendor. The machine holds 200 capsules in a cellophane strip, like bullets in a machine gun. For a nickel the customer gets a one-shot complete vitamin build-up for one day. All that needs invention now is a machine that will pop nickels into a customer's pocket.

TABLE TURNED—Over at Newberry Bobby Ruecker, 12, and his chum, 10, finished a trout-fishing expedition on the last day of the season and came out on the roadway three miles from town. Tired from fishing the Teaspoon creek, and with only one fish, they were looking for a ride home.

A car stopped with two men in it. They looked at the trout the boys carried and asked to examine it. As soon as the one man had the fish in his hands the driver stepped on the gas and the car sped away, leaving the boys still tired and with the three miles to walk home—and it fished! Arriving home they told Bobby's father, Ernest Ruecker, assistant supervisor at conservation district headquarters, about their experience. "But we don't care about losing the fish," Bobby explained, "it was one we found floating downstream and it was awful dead."

HOUSE HUNTERS—When the wind shifted to the north Sunday afternoon, preparatory to bringing the first freezing weather of the season, it brought an almost instinctive reaction from those who are now or are about to become houseless. The north wind, followed by cold rain and snow farther up in the county, seemed to say: "Get your house settled for the winter! There's colder weather coming!"

People heeded the warning in various ways. We saw a young couple who drove up to one of the Fence Company of America demonstration homes on the south side. The car was big and new, but they couldn't live in that. The wind whipped the young woman's skirts as they hurried from the car to the still-to-be-completed house. They walked from one room to another in a house that had no windows or doors, perhaps dreaming of the day when they

Escanaba—Appointment of a committee to plant rice in the duck marshes at Whitefish, Garth and Portage was announced yesterday by Karl Hammar, president of Wolverine conservation association.

Rapid City, S. D.—The head of Abraham Lincoln, carved in stone in Mount Rushmore, was unveiled today. Measuring 66 feet, the face stands between similar sculptured faces of Washington and Jefferson. Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, will later do a head of Theodore Roosevelt.

Hyde Park, N. Y.—President Roosevelt, alarmed by the epidemic of infantile paralysis, announced today that he was starting an organization to "lead, direct and unify the fight against every phase of this sickness."

20 Years Ago
Prince Albert, Sask.—Nineteen children and Sister Lea were burned to death while they slept when the Beaulieu Catholic Mission burned. Word was brought of the tragedy from the isolated spot by a launch.

Paris—The American Legion today had its first convention fight and General Billy Mitchell lost his stand for creation of separate air departments in the cabinet.

Soldier's Field, Chicago—(from special edition of Press)—Gene Tunney successfully defended the world's heavyweight championship tonight against a sensational challenge from Jack Dempsey.

too would have a home of their own. It was that kind of a day.

WAR ON STARLINGS—It was our experience and that of other backyard gardeners in Escanaba this year that not all birds are the friends of man. One of those definitely not friendly to a gardener is the starling, a brown-black ruffian with a strutting walk, a blatant voice and an inclination for ripe tomatoes.

As soon as a tomato in our garden began to blush the starlings would descend with all their poor relations and peck the tomato into a messy looking vegetable—or is it fruit? We were unable to catch sight of the villains, but a friend of ours brought a basketful of damaged tomatoes over to show us as evidence. He had seen the starlings doing their dirty work. Later he said that over in Wisconsin folks are seriously talking of placing a bounty on starlings—or at least repealing laws that protect them. Come to think of it, how would baked starling taste?

THEY'RE BIGGER—The following information was compiled in response to a request for information by a lady who probably wanted to settle a bet with a friend or relative in Marquette. The information is something that will probably interest all residents of the two cities.

The question was: Are the ore docks at Escanaba bigger than those at Marquette?

Here is the answer in statistics: Marquette has two ore docks, the L. S. & I., which is 1,200 feet long and has a capacity of 50,000 tons; the South Shore, 900 feet long, 56,250 tons capacity. Although shorter in length, the South Shore dock has a larger pocket capacity.

Escanaba has two ore docks, the North Western Railroad's No. 5, which is 2,320 feet long and has a capacity of 92,500 tons; and No. 6, which is 1,920 feet long with a capacity of 80,000 tons.

Comparative ore loadings for Marquette and Escanaba during a five-year period (1942 to 1946) inclusive are as follows: Escanaba's total for five years 26,101,041 tons; Marquette 18,827,818 tons,

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—A red hot battle is being staged behind the scenes between the state and treasury departments on one hand and the export-import bank over loans to Europe.

While the state and treasury departments have been scraping the bottom of the appropriations barrel looking for a few million here and there to stop revolution in Europe, William McClesney Martin, head of the export-import bank, has been sitting on $800,000,000 already appropriated by congress.

However, Martin considers Europe a bad financial risk, says that if congress wants to give away money it should say so.

As the heat got hot on the export-import bank last week, President Martin quietly left on "an extended tour of Europe." President Truman may order him back to face the music.

—ARMY-NAVY STILL JEALOUS—
Now that he is boss of all the land, sea, and air forces, defense Secretary James Forrestal already is showing favoritism for his old friends in the navy.

Forrestal is keeping only his naval and marine aides—Capt. Charles Buchanan, USN, and Capt. Edward Elder, USMC. The army and air corps will not be represented.

Forrestal's public relations post has also been assigned to a navy man, Capt. Robert Berry, who, himself, thinks the job should go to a civilian, not a man trained to fight.

Finally, Forrestal plans to take his navy office staff with him to the Pentagon building, thus surrounding himself entirely with naval personnel, except for a couple of army enlisted men.

—SPEAKER MARTIN MUSES—

Stocky, scowling Speaker Joe Martin bluntly admitted to close friends recently that the "Eisenhower boom has politicians worried." Dearly he added that "an undercurrent for MacArthur" also is rustling across the country and might burst into presidential fireworks. Joe didn't seem too happy about this either.

"What if MacArthur should suddenly step off the boat at San Francisco?" blurted out the earthy, plain-spoken speaker. "Next he would be riding down Fifth avenue. What then? Can't you visualize it? The idea of MacArthur for president could take the country by storm."

"Let me tell you," continued the little man from Massachusetts, "if things get worse in Europe, the people may turn to a military man like Eisenhower or MacArthur."

The Eisenhower boom already has penetrated the grass roots and is gaining strength, Martin continued, citing as his source ex-GOP candidate Alf Landon. "I don't think Alf would kid me," he added. "I am a politician, and I know how these booms can pick up momentum," explained the speaker. The Eisenhower boom was not starting too early, he said, and hinted the chief of staff might not be so reticent about politics once out of uniform. Eisenhower, Martin agreed, was more popular than MacArthur, but "if chaos should develop," he warned, "the people will look for an iron hand. Then they may turn to MacArthur."

"But what about the bonus march?" asked one friend. "I can't forget how MacArthur ejected those veterans from the capital."

—IS MACARTHUR TOO OLD?—

"The public has a short memory," shrugged Martin. "That was 15 years ago."

"You mustn't forget MacArthur is getting along in age," pointed out another of Martin's friends. "He's 67, if I remember right. Isn't that a little old to be running for president?"

The speaker shook his head: "Some people are 60 years old when they are 80, and others are 90 years old at 60. A man is as young as he feels, and MacArthur must feel young or how could he run Japan so vigorously?"

As for Martin's own designs on the Republican nomination, the man who would be heir to the presidency if Truman should die, had little to say. He admitted that he had outlined a speaking tour which would cross the paths of other presidential candidates, but claimed it was no presidential-scouting trip.

"I started out with two," he explained apologetically as he fumbled down a list of speaking engagements. Then he added: "It would be nice to make this trip a junket. We could stop to shoot pheasants in South Dakota."

—LA GUARDIA'S LAST VISIT—

In his declining years, Fiorello La Guardia never lost a nostalgia for Capitol Hill, where he began his amazing public career and where, as a fledgling house member, he once astounded his colleagues during prohibition by reading a recipe for home brew into the congressional record.

Last time La Guardia visited congress was just before adjournment in July, when his failing health was sadly apparent. He looked worn and haggard. Representative John Dingell of Michigan, an old friend, urged La Guardia to "take it easy."

"Look here, Little Flower," warned Dingell, "you've been blossoming over too much terrain and your petals are beginning to droop a little. The rugged La Guardia I once knew is getting pretty frail. You need a rest. You ought to slow down."

"I guess you're right, John," the New Yorker grinned palely. "But I can't take time to slow down as long as there's work to do."

People who spend all their time worrying about getting ahead need one!

Q. When was the first price control in effect in America?

A. Before the arrival of Columbus in America, the Aztecs, in the Valley of Mexico, had large market areas wherein they regulated prices and measures. The market place, which covered a vast area in a city, included police courts and judges to punish (often by death) any attempt at extortionate charges or unfair trade practices.

Q. Why will a stain be less visible on a dress of different colors than on one composed of only a single color?

A. Because, in general, there exists a greater contrast among the various parts of a many colored dress than between the stain and the adjacent part. This difference makes the stain less apparent to the eye.

Q. Which American has won more than one Nobel prize for literature?

A. Eugene O'Neill, the playwright. He won the prize twice, once in 1935, and again in 1936. The only other two Americans to have won the prize are Sinclair Lewis, in 1930 and Pearl S. Buck in 1938.

Q. Is football of modern invention?

A. No. Balls have been kicked around beyond the time of recorded history. Savage tribes of ancient times played a primitive kind of football. The Athenians, Spartans, and Corinthians, about 2500 years ago, also kicked the ball around. The Greeks called it "Episkuros." The Romans had a similar game which they called "Harpastum" and which they believed to have been carried with them when they invaded the British Isles in the First Century, B. C.

Install Bishop Noa At Marquette This Morning

The Most Reverend Thomas Lawrence Noa, D. D., will be installed as successor to the late Bishop Francis J. Magner, and eighth Ordinary of the Marquette Diocese, at 10 a. m. today in solemn ceremonies in St. Peter's Cathedral at Marquette.

Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, and Metropolitan of the Michigan Province, will preside at the installation ceremonies. Cardinal Mooney arrived in Marquette yesterday morning in a special coach made available to him and his party by the Chicago & North Western railroad.

The Most Reverend Francis J. Haas, D. D., Bishop of Grand Rapids, will offer the Pontifical Mass. The Very Rev. Joseph E. Guertin will be Deacon and the Rev. A. C. Pellissier, Subdeacon.

Masters of ceremonies for the installation include the Rev. Joseph Breitenbach, Detroit, for the Cardinal's party; Rev. Emil Beyer for Bishop Noa's party and the Rev. Joseph Dunclevay and Rev. Ambrose Matejick for Bishop Haas' party.

Notables to attend include the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zryd, D. D., J. C. D., who was administrator of the Diocese until Bishop Noa presented his documents of appointment at the consistory meeting yesterday afternoon. The Rt. Rev. Monsignors Dittman and Moriarty will be his chaplains. Rev. Fr. George Pernaski will be the Coadjutor and Fr. Chester Franczek will carry the Metropolitan Cross.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignors John T. Holland and Napoleon Raymond are chaplains to Bishop Noa, while the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Mathias Jodice is to be assisting priest. The Rev. Fr. Louis Brackett will be Coadjutor. The Rev.

Bishop Noa

Fr. Robert Chisholm is Notary and will read the document of appointment to the See.

Bishops Albers of Lansing and Murphy of Saginaw, Ordinaries of those two Dioceses, and Bishops Woznicki and Babcock, Auxiliaries to Cardinal Mooney at Detroit, will be in the sanctuary as other members of the American Hierarchy.

Members of the Catholic clergy of North Michigan will also attend the ceremonies in which Cardinal Mooney will speak and Bishop Noa will make his response.

Public Reception. The Senior Choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, under the direction of the Rev. Fr. Alderic Paquet, will present the music at the Mass of installation. The parochial school children will sing the "Credo". The proper of the Mass will be sung by the Priests' choir, Fr. Wilfred Peletier, accompanist.

Yesterday morning Bishop Noa met with school children of Marquette, and in the afternoon with the Consultors. In the evening he was host at his home on Rock street to visiting Bishops and Consultors at a supper.

Following the installation ceremonies this morning, a dinner for the clergy will be held in Cathedral Hall at 1 o'clock at which Bishop Noa will speak. A public reception will be held tomorrow evening in Baraga High school auditorium and on Friday morning a Pontifical Mass for school children is scheduled.

Bishop Noa is the seventh successor to Bishop Baraga and heads the second oldest diocese in Michigan, comprising a territory of 16,281 square miles. In that area there are 265,721 people of which 84,599 are Catholics. In this territory he has charge over 146 priests and 86 parishes. In Northern Michigan there are seven high schools with 961 pupils enrolled and 22 elementary schools with 5,046 students.

The installation ceremony will be broadcast over station WDMJ at Marquette starting at 9:45 a. m. today.

Born in Iron Mountain

Bishop-elect Noa was born of Polish parentage in Iron Mountain.

tain, December 18, 1892. When he was three months old his family moved to Ludington, where at St. Stanislaus parish he came under the tutelage of Msgr. Joseph Pietraski. After a brilliant course at St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee, the late Bishop Henry Joseph Richter sent him to Rome to complete his theological studies.

At the North American College he won degrees in doctor of philosophy and sacred theology. He found time, too, to gain distinction in liturgical music and to pitch for the baseball team. He was ordained by Cardinal Pileggi in the Basilica of St. John Lateran, Dec. 23, 1916, five days after his twenty-fourth birthday.

On his return to Grand Rapids the following summer he was assigned to St. Joseph Seminary's faculty and remained there until his nomination to the Sioux City Diocese.

Jean Garrett
Is the Bride Of Donald Seymour

St. Patrick's church, with red and white gladioli arranged with the lighted altar candles, formed the setting Tuesday morning of the beautifully appointed wedding of Jean Lorraine Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Garrett, of 521 South 15th street, and Donald Lee Seymour, son of George F. Seymour.

The vows were exchanged before Rev. Fr. Clement LePine of St. Ann's church, who was celebrant of the 10 o'clock nuptial high mass.

The bride chose for her attendants, her classmate, Mrs. Robert Baker, of Chicago, who was matron of honor, and her only sister, Patricia, who was junior bridesmaid. Lee Billings, a cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. John Greis served as best man and Normand Seymour, of Lansing, a brother of the bridegroom, ushered.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white tulle, styled with a high, rounded neckline, snug bodice, long tapered sleeves and a full skirt, which formed a train. A coronet held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion in place. She wore a single strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift, as her only ornament, and carried a bouquet of red roses, centered with white tubular roses.

The music of the wedding mass was sung by the eighth and ninth grade girls of St. Ann's school. At the Offertory, "Panis Angelicus" was sung by Bernard Ammel, and at the close of the mass, as the bride placed her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin, he sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," Sister M. Rose Francis of St. Ann's School of Music, who was organist for the service, played the traditional bridal processional and recessional.

A wedding dinner for thirty guests was served at the Log Cabin, mixed flowers and the tiered wedding cake forming the decorations. In the afternoon a reception was held at the home of bride's parents.

Home In Lansing
When the couple left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the bride was wearing a purple dressmaker suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will live in Lansing.

The bride recently was graduated from Bellin Memorial School of Nursing in Green Bay. Mr. Seymour, who served in the United States Navy for two and a half years, is now employed by Bowser-Building in Lansing.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Normand Seymour, Lansing; Mrs. John McCrae, Belleville, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Siddall, Carney; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Billings and son, Lee, and Kenton Billings, of Manistique, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Richer, of Schaffer.

Frank Langenfeld, 1211 Seventh avenue south, left yesterday for a two-weeks' vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Music By Girls' Choir
Mrs. Baker and Patricia wore identical gowns, made with snug bodices of small checked black and white taffeta and bouffant skirts of white taffeta. They carried colonial bouquets of red roses and white asters and wore matching clusters of flowers in their hair. Lee, who carried the ring on a white satin pillow, wore a white suit.

Mrs. Garrett attended her daughter's wedding wearing an ocean blue dress with gray accessories and a corsage of deep red roses.

RUARK DEFENDS TOURING YANKS

Americans Are Rooked In Foreign Lands, Says Traveler

By ROBERT C. RUARK
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer
Paris, Sept. 23 — I have been reading some more of Master Henry Miller, the vicarious American author—this time an excerpt from "Sunday After the War."

It is one of those fashionable, lawdy-how-I-hate-my-land-things, which condemns American plumb-ing, industry, the dollar, Chicago, and the Grand Canyon, while simultaneously shouting up the glories of all Europe, especially France.

I wish somebody could wash Mr. Miller's mouth out with sufficient soap to allow him to be published more frequently in America. Instead of the yellow-backed foreign press, because I think reading him would stride a far piece toward solidifying the American people. I say this because I get so mad every time I dip into one of Mr. Miller's sneers that I have finally been scourged into writing a piece in defense of the American tourist, that most maligned of all critters.

For instance, I am an American tourist, and I am getting awful sick and tired of defending myself and my fellows to young men with ducktails on their neck hair who wear a wearily patronizing smirk whenever the subject of (1) America and (2) American tourist hobs up.

Target for Rackets

They raised me on the charges that the American abroad was loud, vulgar, stupidly oblivious of the sensibilities of the natives, unfit to enjoy the scenery, ostentatious with his own money and, altogether, the kind of caricature of the touring Yank has become.

But they neglected to tell me that the touring Yank is the target for all the vicious scheme of the gentle, picturesque natives who didn't need a postwar crisis to make a career out of high-octane thievery and exploitation. They neglected to tell me that the average tourist is nothing more than a synonym for dollar and a rise receptacle for the complaints of all the people who are mad because they are on the moose and hate the guy they are mooching from.

The net of this thing is that the poor lad from Kankakee begins to feel as if he were a thief himself for the sin of having put by enough scratch to let him travel. Generally not knowing the language, he pays the marked-up tariff cheerfully, and then is sneered at once more for being a chump by the guys who stuff his dollars in their pants.

A visitor to Rome or Paris or one of the North African cities can't walk down the street any more, without being molested by shifty-eyed black marketeers. A rushing babble of French or Italian or Spanish or Arabic includes the word "American"—and the tarifaire is trebled, the dinner check doubles, and 17 assorted rackets blossom, with Wilbur K. Jones of Salt Lake City as the victim.

Which is why, finally, a touch of brusqueness slides into Wilbur's manner toward the local citizens. When a dozen Arab urchins have made off in different directions with his bags, he learns to stand astride his property, smiting right and left with whatever weapon he can muster.

He learns that a graphic gesture indicating a broken neck for a neapolitan cab driver will drive down the price from a 1000-percent tilt to a neat profit of only 200 per cent. He learns that a rude skiddoo to the professional beggars and the unctuous hotel help and the pestiferous black marketeers will earn him some peace.

Tribute to America

But then he learns that he is a bum in spades for employing the same rudeness that the natives apply to their contact with each other—a loudmouthed heel for insisting on a couple of civil liberties, and a thug for attempting to protect himself in the clutches.

He learns not to argue with the English, when they mask their desperate bankruptcy with belligerence, because it is well-known in England now that America had little to do with the war effort, except get rich, and we are all plumb-happy barbarians with too much money and no culture that we didn't smuggle out of the little island a couple hundred years ago. If you answer in kind, you are not only a money-bloated exploiter of the world; you are unbearably rude, too.

The more I travel, and the more I see of other lands in the post-war, and the more I read of the Henry Millers, the more fervent a patriot, in the best babbit sense, I become. I am beginning to get real appreciation for that soulless, money-grubbing, bathroom-ridden land of mine, and if the c-py violinist will oblige with a few bars of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," I will rise and bust out in song.

Chatham

Rock River P. T. A.

Chatham, Mich.—The first meeting of the year of the Rock River P. T. A. was held at the high school Thursday evening, Sept. 18. Mrs. George Lelvis, president, opened the business meeting. No decision was made in regard to the school hot lunch for this year, because no report has been received by the school as yet in regard to how much government allotment will be made the school this year.

A motion was made that Mrs. Waino Norberg replace Mrs. Trelford as P. T. A. treasurer and that no election for this be held but that a vote be taken on the floor. The question was brought up as to whether enough parents would be interested in securing a music teacher to come to the school once a week to give music lessons to private pupils. All parents interested please contact Mrs. Eli Multila or call Mrs. George Lelvis.

A roll call of parents was taken according to grades by Miss Hella Karpinen from the kindergarten to the twelfth grade. The fifth grade had the largest representation of parents present. It was suggested that each parent and teacher bring one new member to the next meeting. A roll call will again be taken according to grades to see the parents of what grade will bring the largest number of new members.

A question box will be conducted at the next meeting, Thursday evening October 16. This will be in the form of a panel discussion. Members to lead the panel were selected as follows: a father, Supt. J. Donald Grenfell; a mother, Mrs. Toivo Kallio; a high school student, Bernice Samanen; grade school teacher, Mrs. Rose Lemm. Members are asked to turn in questions before the meeting begins. A box will be provided for that purpose. Questions must pertain to the school. This is the opportunity for parents to bring to a discussion any and all matters pertaining to school which they wish to talk about with the teachers. You will hear your question discussed by representative members of the panel and, also members who so desire will contribute their opinions from the floor. Questions need not be signed. Write out your question and send or mail it to the high school in care of Miss Karpinen. Miss Hella Karpinen will be in charge of the question box.

It was announced that a fancy goods and baked goods sale will be held at the November meeting. Mrs. Evelyn Malnar will be chairman, with Mrs. Harold Wallis, Mrs. Waino Maki and Mrs. Art Mattson assisting.

It was decided that refreshments would be served at each meeting this year and that no charge for them would be made but that they be provided by the lunch committee as in past years. Standing committees for the year are as follows: Nominating committee—chairman, Mr. Louis Mikulic, Traunk; George Lelvis, Chatham; Mrs. Toivo Johnson, Eben; Mrs. Art Mattson, Sundell; Refreshments—Mrs. Opal Richmond, chairman; Miss Catherine Brown; Program—Mrs. Art Mattson, chairman.

P. T. A. dues will be 25 cents per year. Members are asked to please pay their dues as soon as possible. Following the business meeting a short program was presented as follows: Piano solo—"Prelude"—Chopin—Patsy Lelvis, 4-H Club Demonstration—"Insect Control In The Home Garden"—Norman Laakso and Beatrice Lahti. Community singing was led by Mrs. Harold Wallis and Miss Hella Karpinen with Mr. Grenfell at the piano.

Following the program lunch was served in the homemaking room by the following committee members: Mrs. Oscar Sandstrom, Mrs. Opal Richmond, Mrs. Carl Zeno, Mrs. Eino Sturvist and Mrs. Donald Hakala.

Teachers' Picnic Supper
Rock River teachers enjoyed a picnic supper at the Earle Brown cottage at Au Train Tuesday evening Sept. 16. Those who attended were: Supt. and Mrs. J. Donald Grenville and children, Nancy, Jimmie and Kathy, Mrs. Thora Brown, Miss Ione Brown, Miss Margaret Chartier, Mrs. George Fallo, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Barber, Walfrid Mickelson, Miss Hella Karpinen and Miss Catherine Brown. Mr. Robert Carlson of Michigan State College extension division was a guest.

Parents Attention
Parents interested in having children take private music lessons please call Mrs. George Lelvis or write to Mrs. Eli Multila. If enough pupils can be secured to afford sufficient remuneration to induce a music teacher from Marquette to come to the school once a week to give such music lessons, the P. T. A. will make such an arrangement if possible.

Luther League Convention
A Luther League state convention will be held at Camp Shaw Sept. 26, 27 and 28.

City Council Holds Meet;
Band Members To Be Paid

The city council of Manistique met in regular session with the city manager Monday evening to discuss a lengthy agenda of city business, chiefly budgetary. The council viewed favorably the eventual rust-proofing of water tanks by electrolysis but withheld formal decision until cost estimates are made available.

Bids for purchase of excess property and equipment owned by the City of Manistique were received and discussed. Total bid value was $112.90 for which the city sold several large panes of glass to Harry Seore, three bicycles to George McFarland and one bicycle to Ray D. Anderson, and water tanks to William McKenzie and James Tennison. Bids for purchase of a dump body and trailer were rejected by the council.

Band members, who presented a bill for concerts rendered this summer at the request of Thor Reque, will receive pay for services to the city from funds at the disposal of the recreation department. Due to budgetary shortage and readjustment, it was felt by the recreation department that the expense was too great for the amount of funds available in the recreation fund for the band.

Cemetery House Discussed
Also discussed and moved by the councilmen were: Request for bids for 50 tons of coal; authorization for the city manager to meter water used by the Michigan Dimension company for purposes other than fire protection, and authority to repair sewers near the Soo Line railroad and in the city proper. Replacement of an oil burner was also approved.

City Manager Dickson reported to the council that the house at the cemetery for its caretaker is near completion. The council authorized him to complete rough plumbing on the premises. Councilman Lester Richards raised objection to the construction of a septic tank, stating such was not authorized by the council. City Manager Dickson stated that his understanding was that he was authorized to complete renovation of the caretaker's residence.

Other business included provision by the council for an additional man on the police force for protection at the football stadium during games; decision to grant Robert Rodgers a quit claim deed for property acquired by the city on taxes and to allow the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital fund committee to post daily markers in Triangle Park, indicating progress of the fund drive.

The city council also agreed to grant the Manistique Lions club permission to hold a carnival in the city next July upon request of the fire department. Hugh Kennedy, Lions club president, and Walter Wilson, carnival committee chairman, appeared before the council to discuss the matter. The city council expressed the desire that carnivals with the greatest appeal for children be considered. The Nelson Cloverland Cream-bate court, has appealed for reinstatement as administrator. Both Martin and Williams entered pleas of not guilty. The cases of Walter Burns, an appeal from justice court, and of Milo Gosner, assumpsit, have also been continued.

Wind Usets Plane Moored On Beach

Munising — A light Piper Cub seaplane owned by the Munising Seaplane Service was damaged late Sunday evening when a strong wind blew it from its mooring on the bay shore and upset it in about three feet of water.

The proprietors of the airtube left Munising Sunday afternoon on a flight in another plane, it was reported, leaving the Piper Cub on the beach. The wind which arose later, upset the plane throwing the nose and wings into the water.

Efforts of a group of local residents to right the plane have been futile. Extent of damage caused by the "dunking" is not known pending arrival of the owners and recovery of the plane from the water.

The left wing of the plane was crumpled and pulled away from the main body of the craft, but no other visible damage was noticed.

CITY TO STAY ON FAST TIME

Other Matters Considered
At Short Commish
Meeting

Gladstone will remain on Eastern Standard Time the year round instead of reverting to Central Time on the last Sunday in September, it was decided by the city commission in regular meeting this week.

This coincides with action taken by the Escanaba city council and it is likely that the remainder of the county will follow suit.

Wynand Nieuwenkamp, manager of the Alger-Delta REA, requested the commission amend the zoning ordinance to allow a minimum of 2 1/2 feet between the side of a residence and the property line but the commission refused to start action to alter the ordinance in this respect.

The REA recently moved a residential structure from Delta avenue to a lot on Superior avenue and there is not sufficient clearance to comply with the city ordinance.

The commission approved the purchase of an aerial ladder for use by the light department for replacing street light bulbs or fixtures, removing obstacles from wires and other purposes. It will be mounted on the city pickup truck.

The advisability of purchasing a bulldozer was discussed but no action taken.

Manny Hall Pays $100 For Having Illegal Venson

Manny Hall of Rapid River, Route 1, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of a portion of a deer carcass before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson Monday night and was fined $100 and costs of $9.50.

The carcass of a large deer, one hind quarter of which was missing, was found near Hall's home. Conservation Officer Allan Tweedy of Escanaba found where a large buck had been killed Saturday night and later evidence was uncovered that Hall had the deer. A search warrant was obtained but it was not necessary to use it as the evidence was found outside the house. Several bottles of canned venison were also found.

Conservation Officers Clayton Brown of Escanaba, Ray Roberts of Nahma and Ernest Rushford of Rapid River assisted in the case.

Kenneth Lewis, Escanaba, also was arraigned before Justice Estenson on a charge of carrying a gun in game area during the 15-day period preceding small game season and upon his plea of guilty was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs of $9.50. Arrest in the case was made by Conservation Officers Rushford and Roberts.

FIELD LIGHTS TALK SUBJECT

Rotary Club Members Air
Views On Matter
Monday

The question of the advisability of having a lighted athletic field, its location and sports it should accommodate were discussed at the Rotary club meeting Monday noon at the Yacht club. The program was handled by George Mathison, chairman.

Some considered it too costly for installation at the Marble Athletic field as the number of home games during which it could be used is too small.

One speaker suggested a centralizing of the sports program at the school playground on South Tenth street. The area is large enough for a practice football field, softball and many other sports. It is too small, however, for a baseball field.

If the city is to have a lighted baseball field only two locations are available, the diamond at the Bay Shore and the Buckeye diamond and property upon which the latter is located is not publicly owned.

H. R. Terryberry, Grand Rapids, from whom the high school orders class rings, was a guest at the meeting. He lauded the natural beauties of the Upper Peninsula and made several suggestions toward the development of tourist business; namely, the improvement of our highways and acquisition of better hotel accommodations.

Home Run Fails To Save Pirates From 8-4 Defeat

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23 (AP)—Ralph Kiner, slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, got his 51st home run of the year tonight but it wasn't enough to save the Pirates from another defeat as the second place St. Louis Cardinals whipped them, 8 to 4, before a chilled gathering of 10,330.

TIGERS REGAIN SECOND PLACE

Only 942 Chilled Fans See Newhouse Take White Sox, 4-1

Chicago, Sept. 23 (AP)—Hal Newhouse used his sixteenth win of the season to pitch the Detroit Tigers back into undisputed possession of second place in American League standings with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox before 942 chilled cash customers today.

Newhouse allowed 10 singles but did not give up a run until the ninth. Eddie Lopat, dueling Newhouse for top honors among left handed pitchers in the junior circuit, was the loser although he gave up one less hit. Lopat's mark is now 15 wins, 13 lost. Newhouse has 17 losses.

Detroit tagged Lopat for two runs in the second, then two more in the eighth. Bob Kennedy's single scored Cass Michaels with Chicago's run with two out in the ninth.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (AP)—The professional odds-makers who have established the Yankees rather heavy favorites to beat the Dodgers in the coming subway series are betting that Joe DiMaggio will, over a span of games, take the hide off Brooklyn's youthful pitching staff.

That must account for it, because otherwise the two league champions look much too evenly matched in every department of play to justify such generosity on the part of the commissioners, or bookies. Throw "the Clipper" out of there and it would be most difficult to split the two teams, man for man.

If the tall, solemn Joe had not recovered from an injured heel well after the season began, it is doubtful the Yankees would have finished better than third or fourth. Baseball men generally agree he has been the most valuable player in the American League, rivaled only by his relief-pitching teammate, Joe Page.

A direct comparison of the outfields of the World Series rivals is somewhat difficult to undertake. If DiMaggio hits as he can, and his superb fielding skill needs to be utilized at a crucial point or two, then the Yankees not only will have a greater outfield than the Dodgers, but they likely will win the series.

BOTH WINNERS ARE BACKED IN

Pennants Clinched While Teams Are Idle; Other Records Set

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—The World Series won't start until 1:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 30, in New York's Yankee Stadium but already a flock of unofficial records have been established.

It is the first time that both contestants—in this case, the Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers—have backed into the series.

The Yankees clinched their American League pennant on Sept. 15 while rained out—they sat in their locker room as the Chicago White Sox trounced the Red Sox, eliminating the Boston club from the race.

Last night the idle Dodgers became National League champions as the Chicago Cubs stopped the St. Louis Cardinals.

The schedule, which had the Cardinals and Cubs playing a night-contest, made the Dodgers the first pennant winner to be crowned at midnight.

The series also is the first since 1913 in which a pair of freshman managers will oppose each other. Stanley (Bucky) Harris was drafted from the Yank business office to direct the field play of the team last winter. Burt Shotton was drafted from his Florida front porch by Branch Rickey at the start of the season to direct the Dodgers after Commissioner A. B. Chandler had suspended Leo Durocher, erstwhile Brooklyn boss.

First For Negro And it also is the first since 1940 that is scheduled for seven consecutive days without a break for either traveling or ticket selling. The subway series, with the two parks separated only by the price of a nickel, made travel dates unnecessary. Chandler's permission for the Yankees to sell their tickets in four-game blocks rather than three-game strips eliminated the ticket selling vacation.

The Yankees pasteboard—if you already have them—will get you into the first, second, sixth and seventh games. The Dodgers will be host in the third, fourth and fifth.

And it probably is the first series for which one club is returning $3,000,000 in cash to its followers. The Brooklyn officials estimate that the mailed requests for series tickets exceeded the supply by that amount.

Home Folks Watch Champion Dodgers Club Giants, 6 to 1

Brooklyn, Sept. 23 (AP)—Brooklyn celebrated its newly-clinched National League championship before the home folks today, clubbing the New York Giants, 6-1, on Jackie Robinson day. St. Louis had eliminated itself from any mathematical chance last night by bowing to Chicago.

With the pressure off, the Dodgers had little trouble snapping their three-game losing streak as Joe Hatten warmed up in impressive style with a five-inning stint during which he allowed only three hits, including Bobby Thomson's first-inning homer, his 28th running the Giants' consecutive homer streak to 19. Dan Bankhead finished up the game for the Brooks.

Robinson, who was given a new automobile, a television set, $500 watch, an inter-racial good will plaque and cash gifts before the game, went hitting in two trips before he was replaced by Ed Stevens, a rookie from Montreal.

In fact, Manager Burt Shotton tossed his reserves into action midway in the game and gave Catcher Bruce Edwards and Dixie Walker a complete rest.

BIG 4TH GIVES CUBS 7-2 WIN

Cincinnati, Sept. 23 (AP)—Scoring all their runs in the fourth inning, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 7-2, before 1,311 fans here today as Hank Wyse turned in a six-hitter for his sixth victory of the year. Cincinnati needs one victory to clinch fifth place in the standings.

Bill Nicholson started off the Cubs' seven-hit spurge in the fourth with his 25th homer of the year into the right field bleachers. Andy Pafko drove in three runs with a base cleaning double to center.

The losing pitcher was Johnny Vander Meer, whose three-game winning streak was snapped as the Cubs pounded him for 12 hits in 3 1/2 innings he toiled. The Cubs finished with a total of 17 safeties.

The Reds scored their first run in the fifth on Ray Mueller's double and a single by Rookie Ted Kluszewski, and the second in the ninth as Eddie Lukon tripled and came home on Mueller's long fly.

Lukon was credited with his three-bagger when Centerfielder Pafko lost his long fly in the sun and the ball struck the outfielder on the bridge of the nose.

Pafko, who paced the Cubs' attack with four hits in five trips, was stunned by the blow and forced to retire in favor of Phil Cavarretta.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

That St. Joe-Escanaba football game in 1924, which ended in a scoreless tie, must have been a humdinger.

Ever since commenting on it in a recent column, we have been besieged by St. Joe partisans pointing out quite emphatically that the 1924 game was NOT the best showing a St. Joe team ever made against Escanaba high on the gridiron.

As a matter of fact, we have been informed quite pointedly that St. Joe has beaten Escanaba, not once but twice, but as yet we have located no one who recalls exactly in what years those two victories were recorded.

And we hasten to add that if such knowledge is floating around unharnessed, we would appreciate very much the harboring of such information imparting same to us. In this way, we can set the record straight.

Not only have Escanaba St. Joe fans been on our trail—trail, that is—but Uncle Sam's mail the other day brought us a missive from one E. H. Andrews way out in Bellevue, Wash. And we are flattered no end to discover that someone way out in Bellevue, Wash., is reading "It Seems To Me."

The Washington patron, however, made no mention of a St. Joe victory over Escanaba. He commented solely on Herman Mithie's part in that scoreless classic.

"Mithie was a great football player and a star but not especially in that game," he wrote. "How many times did he carry the ball that day? As I remember that game, he had a sore foot, called the signals, but the other boys carried the ball."

So, while you're checking on those St. Joe victories over Escanaba, check up on Mithie, too, will you? Did he or did he not have a sore foot?

If only Ramus II were still around!

Grange and Thorpe Still Heroes For Chicago Grid Kids

By JERRY LISKA Chicago, Sept. 23 (AP)—Jim Thorpe and Red Grange still leave 'em pop-eyed when they trot on the field.

The fact that this legendary football pair can't do much more than trot now, doesn't erase the awe and wonder of their present-day fans, a couple of generations removed—the youngsters who played in the Chicago Sports Association kid league.

Grange, Thorpe and members of the Chicago Bears and Cardinals help coach the lads, who range between 12 and 15 years.

Some of the kids heard about Grange and Thorpe from their granddads, but yesterday they gathered around the two grid immortals with the same autograph-hunting enthusiasm they would accord a Blanchard, or a Davis or a Trippi.

The occasion was Grange's launching of his fifth season at part-time coaching in the league whose six teams play between halves of the Bear and Cardinal games.

Grange a thick-set insurance salesman of 44, brought the 60-year-old and currently-unemployed Thorpe along for perhaps a nostalgic whiff of the gridiron. Big Jim beamed as the kids clustered around him and asked for his pet plays. He said he'd come again, perhaps like Grange does, to help coach twice a week.

"Galloping Ghost" of Illinois, and Thorpe, the wonder-of-football wonders from Little Carlisle Institute, loped up and down the field with the kids.

"We're not in such bad shape—or are we," grinned the portly Thorpe to 210-pound Grange, now some 35 pounds over his Illinois playing weight.

DETHRONED SOX SPLIT WITH A'S

Boston, Sept. 23 (AP)—After being held to five hits by Phil Marichildon for a 9-3 setback in the opener, the dethroned Boston Red Sox said their home 1947 farewells with a 6-5 victory today while splitting a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics.

One of the Boston first-game hits was Ted Williams' 31st homer with none on in the fifth inning.

Rookie Charlie Stobbs started the opener for the Soxers but left in the second inning when the Athletics pounded him for four hits and three runs. They collected two more tallies in the third, a sixth run in the fifth and three more in the sixth.

Lefty Earl Johnson gained credit for his 12th win in the nightcap, although he was yanked in the eighth when Herman Franks set off a four-run explosion with a triple.

The split dropped the 1946 American League champions down into third-place, a half-game behind the Detroit Tigers.

Assault And Armed Race Is On Again

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Assault was frisking around Belmont like a young fellow feeling his oats today as Trainer Maxie Hirsch, who cast his vote overnight against running in Saturday's $100,000 match race against Armed, charged his mind again and decided to run.

a question on the subject. "I'd probably die in three years. That's too tough a business for me."

HOW NATIONS CAN GO BROKE

Happens When They Do Not Make Enough To Cover Expenses

By SIGRID ARNE
Washington—Nations go broke just about the way people do. They don't make enough money to cover their expenses. Finally their debts pile up so badly that their credit is no good.

A' that point nations have to do just what people do; cut their spending back to just what they earn or get a hand-out if what they earn isn't enough to feed them.

Roughly, that's just about what has happened to Europe.

Even without war just behind it, Europe is always much more vulnerable to the empty-pocket "megrim" than the United States. Europe has always had to import a good deal of the food it eats and the raw materials which keep its factories at work.

To pay for those imports Europe has always sold manufactured goods. Now it can't turn out enough manufactured goods to pay for even minimum needs for food, coal, cotton and the like.

Europe has a second worry: one which would not worry a man with empty pockets.

Europe has to earn a certain kind of money to get most of its needs. It has to earn the money of the nations which have surpluses that can be sold to the Europeans. Wheat, for example, is exported only from Canada, the United States, Australia and the Argentine. Most of the export coal has been coming from U. S. mines. Much cotton from U. S. fields. Much semi-processed steel from U. S. factories.

So Europe has to sell in the nations which have the raw materials to sell. And that brings us back to the original worry. Europe is not making or selling enough manufactured goods to cover its costs.

It's inconceivable now that the United States would ever get in that position for the reason that it has to buy so little of what it needs from other countries. It raises enough food to eat, digs its coal, raises its cotton and so on.

The U. S. has tried to ease Europe's burden by making loans to furnish the continent with enough dollars to cover its buying here. But now those loans are playing out. Europe can't buy what it needs here—downright starvation could occur next March and April—unless it gets more dollars. In other words it is "broke."

The fact that Europe is short of money even for "austerity diets" and short of money for coal to keep its factories going is the basis for the flurry of worry in Washington.

There is marked political danger if France, Great Britain and Italy, most importantly, suddenly face close factories and starvation early next spring. Those governments could fall into the hands of the highly-organized home-grown Communist parties, and free governments might disappear from the face of Europe. So Washington's willingness to consider more dollar loans is described as just as much self-protection as it is old-fashioned friendliness.

There is another major way in which a nation could go broke, and here the United States might be vulnerable.

A nation could pile up so heavy a debt that there wouldn't be enough tax money to pay each year's bill for running interest on the national debt.

That could happen in a period of dropping production, when taxes would also drop in volume. Washington could slap on heavier taxes to cover the margin, but politicians have always been afraid to vote heavier taxes.

This bogey worries some Washington economists. They say if the size of the debt brought about a U. S. collapse there would be a "period of confusion," and we might emerge with a new type of government.

That fact makes it difficult for Washington financial experts to be too lavish in their foreign loans. Each loan sends the U. S. debt that much higher.

That's what all the study over the Marshall plan is about. It is

Last Hour Selling Sends Stocks Down; Flurry Is Surprising

New York, Sept. 23 (P)—Heavy last-hour selling in the stock market today drove leading issues downward $1 to more than $2 a share.

Hardest hit were stocks of major industrial companies, such as U. S. Steel Corp., General Motors Corp., International Paper Co., and American Woolen Co.

Surprised by the suddenness of the selling attack, the market showed little recuperative power and final prices were at or near the low levels for the day. For a brief period the ticker tape ran behind actual transactions.

Wall Streeters offered several suggestions to explain the decline. One, the international situation appeared to be growing more ominous; two, the threat of an Arabian spokesman in London that unless the question of Palestine was satisfactorily solved, the Arab states might withdraw American and British oil concessions.

Senator Taft Gets Hand Crushed From Slammed Car Door

Seattle, Sept. 23 (P)—Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) suffered a badly crushed left hand when the driver of his car slammed the door on it in the confusion of a vociferous and tumultuous reception here late today.

Morris Plummer, member of the reception committee, said the accident occurred after something was tossed at the car. Plummer said it was "an egg or a tomato or something."

A boogie crowd bearing placards was massed before the station when Senator and Mrs. Taft arrived here from Reno, Nev., to make a major speech tonight on the labor issue as part of his western presidential sounding trip.

Taft's aides said the senator's hand was badly torn across the palm and fingers and that the wound might require several stitches.

They said, pending a more thorough examination, that apparently no bones were broken.

The senator was smiling and seemingly unperturbed when he arrived at his hotel. However, his hand was wrapped in a bloody handkerchief.

Veteran Confesses Choking Niece, 11, At Philadelphia, Pa.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23 (P)—George A. Neill, shouting so loudly that at times his words were heard in the corridor outside a city police office where he was being questioned, told today the story of how he strangled his 11-year-old niece, Isabella Mallon, Assistant Police Superintendent George F. Richardson reported.

"I choked her, I know I'm guilty," Richardson quoted the 22-year-old Marine Corps veteran as saying.

"I'm not going to lie out of it now. I know I'm going to get my full punishment."

Neill, charged with homicide, was brought here this afternoon from Rickville, Md., where he was arrested yesterday, 48 hours after the girl's body was found on a weed-grown Philadelphia lot, 10 blocks from her home. She had been missing since Sept. 6, the same day her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mallon, reported that Neill left their home saying he planned to hitchhike to California.

Detective Sgt. William H. Simon announced tonight Neill had signed a three-page statement detailing the crime, but said he "gave no plausible motive."

Neill claimed he "blacked out" when his hands went around the throat of his little niece, Simon said.
